Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 10 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Brighter but colder, with some sunshine and perhaps isolated showers.

Today:
Any early rain in the far east should soon clear to leave sunny spells generally, and perhaps the odd fleeting blustery shower in the far west. Feeling cold, particularly given the breeze. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming generally dry, with winds falling light. Coupled with long clear spells, these conditions will help lead to a widespread frost, particularly in rural areas. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Saturday:
Fine, cold and crisp with sunshine during the morning. Gradually clouding over from the west in the afternoon, culminiating in a breezy and rather wet evening as milder conditions arrive. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining rather changeable, breezy and unsettled through this period, with some sunny intervals but also showers or longer spells of rain. Milder than of late, but tempered by the wind.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.